SCS TODAY: August 10, 2020
[A late-day M-W-F update from the SCS Dean's Office]

TO KNOW
— Two SCS Ph.D. students – Graham Gobieski and Xinyi Wang – have received fellowships in artificial intelligence and machine learning through Apple Scholars.
— Congratulations to Auton Lab's Saswati Ray and team – and their automated machine learning pipeline construction algorithm – for once again besting all others according to DARPA's Data-Driven Discovery of Models (D3M) summer evaluation leaderboard scores. And kudos to the machine learning component-building sub-team – led by Jarod Wang and Cristian Challu – who also received a #1 ranking in the same DARPA summer evaluation.

RETURNING TO CAMPUS
Please take some time to review:
— CMU's minimum requirements to return to campus, which were updated today.
— A Tartan's Responsibility, which outlines the expectations for all CMU students who will resume living, learning, working and interacting with the CMU campus community – whether living on or off campus.

TOWN HALL FOLLOW-UP
— In preparation for and during the fall semester, enhanced cleaning and disinfecting will occur throughout SCS facilities and across campus. Be sure to visit CMU's COVID-19 Updates page for the latest information on cleaning campus facilities, modifying spaces, improving HVAC and protective barriers, and providing campus signage. Become familiar with some of the new signs you may see around campus.

Until Wednesday,
